Group homes issue simmering

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

The controversy over adult foster homes in Romulus is continuing to simmer, following the special City Council meeting with the Department of Social Services last week.

The city currently lists 41 such group homes within the city limits, while Barbara Smalley, area supervisor of the state Department of Social Services, Adult Foster Care License Division, says her records show only 28 such dwellings in Romulus.

The bottom line appears to be that some homes may be actually unlicensed and some may fall under other state categories.

A spokesman in the City

Clerk's office said other such homes were brought to their attention following the nearly two hour meeting on Aug. 22.

Smalley said a representative from her department will be in touch with City Clerk Linda Choate to determine which figure is accurate and what future actions are needed.

Councilman Ellis Pennington, one of the strongest critics of the growing number of foster homes in Romulus, admitted that Smalley was "very sympathetic to Romulus problems on this issue, but nothing was resolved."

Pennington said he planned to continue pressing the issue, until other western Wayne

Student's summer work was purr-fect

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

A young Romulus student is now finishing a summer of enjoyment and employment at the Romulus Animal Control office.

Keisha Stewart, daughter of Leonard and Patty Anne Stewart, has been working with the Summer Employment Training (SET) Class program in Romulus this summer and as part of her responsibility has worked closely with city Animal Control Officer Kim Matthews.

Stewart's job responsibilities have been varied, Matthews said, ranging from clerical duties, to talking, feeding and walking animals housed at the animal control headquarters and even acting as an adoption spokesperson for the dogs, cats and other animals turned over to the center.

Matthews praised Stewart's dedication, love of animals and ability to make such animal adoptions fulfilling.

Dorothy West, SET Class coordinator, also praised Stewart's work saying that this summer "she did the same work that two males did in the past."

Matthews added, "She always knows what she is doing and never complains, even when she has to wash floors or scoop up animal droppings."

Stewart said she loved her summer job duties. In addition to caring for the stray animals, she also helped redecorate the center facilities.

She will enter Romulus High School next month. Following graduation, she plans to begin studies in the medical field at the University of Alabama.

Class of 2008 Kids start kindergarten

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER

Oh, I'm ready to go off to kindergarten. That is where I really want to be-e-e. 'Cause when I go off to kindergarten, everyone will think I'm really ne-e-at.

Those words, penned by Valerie Bielsker and sung to a familiar hotdog commercial theme, are being sung in My Friends and Me Children's Center in Romulus by youngsters who are making their final preparations to begin kindergarten on Monday.

Two of the youngsters, Freddie Marciniak and Zachary Stoner, are long-time pupils of the Children's Center who are looking forward to their next step in learning.

"I think it will be kind of the same, but I'll learn some new things," said Freddie. "I can count and I know colors - every single color."

He and Zachary like the arts and activities plus the games and toys at the Children's Center. They both named the giant Legos as their favorite toy.

"I've got Mighty Morphin Power Ranger shoes for school, and new jeans and shirts, too," said Freddie, noting that he has a Mighty Morphin tape and also watches the adventure cartoon show in the mornings. "My favorites are Tommy and Zack and I like Billy, too."

"Oh no, Tommy and Jason are the best," said Zachary.

Each weekday, the boys and their classmates arrive at My Friends and Me Children's Center when their parents leave for work and stay until their parents' working hours are over.

"For a lot of the kids, they are used to being in school and they are looking for something different - some new challenges. They are ready for kindergarten," said staff member Alice Boguslaw. "We do a lot of things to prepare them for kindergarten while they are here. We teach them the alphabet and colors and teach them to write numbers. They learn numbers with Number Bingo and other games," Boguslaw said. "We have activities to develop small and large motor skills. There are all kinds of activities indoors and outside that the children do during the day."

"When school starts, these children will be used to being away from their parents and used to being with other children. They'll have a real advantage," she said.

"By the way, there's another song we sing to help them get ready for kindergarten. It's sung to the tune of Clementine, Boguslaw said.

Victim identified

Romulus police have identified a 47-year-old cyclist, who was critically injured on Aug. 18, as a Inkster man, traffic officer Jerome Yoskovits reported Monday.

The victim, Ernest Ray Jones, was reportedly pedaling his bike on Middlebelt Road, near Merriman in Romulus at 5:45 a.m. that day and was struck from behind by a 1985 Pontiac, Yoskovits said.

He was taken to Annapolis Hospital in Wayne after the crash and later flown to the University of Michigan Hospital in Ann Arbor because of his serious injuries.

Student codes are enforced

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Violent or disruptive students, who have been suspended from other school districts, will now find it difficult to enroll in the Romulus Community School District, Assistant Superintendent of Schools Dr. Terrel M. LeCesne reported this week.

LeCesne said the local school board while amending its Student Code of Conduct, added an entirely new section to address the concerns about "new students coming in after having been booted out of other districts."

"If a student's misconduct in another district is deemed to be a threat to the health and safety of other students," LeCesne said, "to prevent threatened disruption to the Romulus educational process, that student may be denied admission even if the student satisfies all other residency requirements."

LeCesne continued, "If in the opinion of the principal, the student's presence in school represents such a threat, the student will be temporarily suspended until a due process hearing is held and a determination is made."

LeCesne said "examples of gross behavior include possession of dangerous weapons such as guns, knives, etc.; fighting and assaults; extortion and gang activities; use, possession and distribution of drugs or other legally controlled substances."

"School officials are wary of admitting violent or disruptive students, who have been ousted by other school districts, just because they happened to have moved to Romulus," he said.

"So the district has put into place, a screening mechanism to closely scrutinize the background of such students in order to protect other local students and employees from them," LeCesne said.

5,000 sign petitions against deep-well

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

A dedicated band of anti-environmental deep well protesters fanned out over Romulus in recent weeks to collect about 5,000 signatures on petitions stating the citizens were opposed to the well program.

R.P. Lilly, spokesperson for Romulus Environmentalists Caring About People (RECAP) citizens' group, appeared before the Romulus City Council last week and presented the petitions to Council pro-tem Randy Gear.

Lilly said 12 to 15 RECAP members and supporters went door to door throughout Romulus to seek symbolic signatures from local residents to show that many residents oppose the well, not "just a handful as EDS likes to claim."

"EDS recently released a so-called survey from about 300 persons," Lilly said, "and we wanted to show after all the past talk by EDS that many, many persons oppose any hazardous/non-hazardous deep injection well projects in Romulus."

The RECAP petitions stated, "We the undersigned citizens and/or property owners of Romulus, oppose Michigan's first commercial hazardous/non-hazardous deep injection well being located in our city."

The petitions provided space for the signers' names, addresses and phone numbers.

A number of RECAP members complain about the wording of the EDS phone survey questions, claiming the three question survey was tilted toward city-EDS court settlement answers.

R.P. Lilly

Issue

County cities "get their full share of the burden" before any future homes are opened in Romulus.

Numerous residents spoke out on the issue during the special meeting, including Romulus Assistant Superintendent of Schools Joel Carr, who cited the heavy cost the school district faces in taking care of these residents educational needs until they reach the age of 26.

A spokeswoman for State Rep. Gregory Pitoniak (D-22nd Dist.) said Pitoniak will await further word from city officials on the issue.

Murder trial verdict is due on Sept. 8

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Verdicts are now being awaited by a Detroit pair, who are accused of beating to death former Romulus resident William Mancine in a Flat Rock apartment.

A five-day trial was conducted last week before Recorders Court Judge Wendy Baxter in Detroit and Baxter has revealed she will announce her verdict on Sept. 8 in Recorders Court Room 501.

The defendants, Lee Gruber, 29, formerly of Belleville, and Kelly Gorsline, 26, are both accused of first degree murder and felony murder in connection with Mancine's death in his girl friend's apartment in Flat Rock.

Assistant Wayne County Prosecutor Daniel Less called 10 state witnesses, as the state claimed Mancine was beaten to death with furniture and other items.

Gruber was the only witness called by the defense. He claimed he only acted in self defense.

Mancine, 29, reportedly died Nov. 20, 1993 in Seaway Hospital in Trenton about a half hour after the battle in the apartment.

The judge could find the defendants guilty of second degree murder or manslaughter. She also could rule them innocent.

The cards will be transported to the hospital.

In the meantime, the Rev. Gerard Cupple of St. Theodore's Church of Westland will serve as interim pastor.

Romulus driver faces trial in death of infants

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

Despite his attorney's efforts to prove two Westland parents were intoxicated and pulled out into traffic in front of the defendant's vehicle causing the death of their two small children, Romulus resident Alan Paul Gervais faces trial on charges of operating a motor vehicle under the influence of alcohol causing death.

Jimire Adams, 5 months old, and her sister Laura Johnson, a 22-month-old, died of head and neck injuries at Annapolis Hospital in Wayne following the collision.

Gervais, who posted a $10,000/10 percent bond, must attend Alcoholics Anonymous twice a week and is not permitted to drink alcohol.

Testimony between the parents and police during preliminary examination in Westland 18th District Court conflicted on several points.

James Adams, the 37-year-old father, testified that the infants and their brothers ages 3 and 4, were placed in the couple's 1983 Chrysler New Yorker by their mother around 9:30 p.m. June 17.

Adams testified that he turned the car around so it was facing Van Born and proceeded northbound out of the driveway, located at 28242 Van Born near Admiral Street, when traffic was clear. However, he said, his vehicle stalled half-way into the roadway.

The father stopped the car, put it in park, shut off the main headlights and attempted to start the car to no avail, according to testimony. When he saw Gervais' truck headed towards them, Adams leaned out the driver's side window and began to wave his hands to alert the vehicle driver.

"He didn't slow. He was speeding about 70 miles per hour," Adams testified. "I was in shock. I told my wife that he's not going to stop. The next thing I remember is lying in the middle of the street," Adams said, adding that he never heard the truck brake.

According to testimony, the

The facts indicate that all the adults involved were drinking.
- Jerome Barney

truck struck the driver's side between the front and rear door.

The mother, 25-year-old Sandra Johnson-Adams, said her husband placed the children inside the car and secured their safety belts. Johnson-Adams said she was in the process of telling her children to get out of the car when they were struck.

Testimony also revealed that an empty bottle of Royal Canadian was found on the rear floor of the parent's vehicle. Adams denied drinking it, but said he had been drinking a 32-ounce bottle of beer prior to the accident. His blood alcohol level measured .10. Johnson-Adams, whose license was suspended, also testified that she consumed a glass of champagne. Her blood alcohol measured .05 an hour and a half after the accident.

Westland police officer Kevin Wojcik testified that he found a cooler containing a full beer and an empty can of beer on the front floor board of the truck. He also found two empty beer cans in the rear bed of the truck. Gervais' blood alcohol level measured .15 after the crash.

Westland investigating officer James Dexter said he reconstructed the scene, determining the truck was traveling about 62 Mph and did not brake on or before impact.

According to Dexter, the Chrysler was traveling about 9 Mph upon impact and no one inside the car was wearing a seat belt.

"None of them were belted in. The only one I can't determine is the front passenger," Dexter testified.

Based on hair samples taken from the parents and from the driver's side windshield, Dexter said Johnson-Adams was the driver of the vehicle. Dexter added that the driver's seat position was in a forward position for a smaller driver.

"Her injuries were consistent with the breaking of the windshield," Dexter said.

Dexter added that Gervais, who was speeding in the 45 Mph zone, had "very little time to react."

According to Wayne County Prosecutor Thomas Trzcinski, the use of seat belts was irrelevant to the case. However, defense attorney Jerome Barney questioned the admissibility of the parents' creditability.

"This matter was considered extensively by our office. We believe there is strict liability imposed on an individual driving above a .10 blood alcohol level. Gervais had a .15 two hours and 50 some minutes after the accident," Trzcinski said. "The blood alcohol could've been nothing but higher. His reaction time was diminished to the extent that it caused the deaths of two babies."

However, Barney argued, "The facts indicate that all the adults involved were drinking. The Adams vehicle darted out in front of Gervais when he had the right of way. The opportunity was not available to my client under any circumstances to avoid this accident."

Westland 18th District Judge Gail McKnight disagreed, "The testimony presents an awful lot of really sad, regrettable factors," however, she added, "The fact that the babies were not belted can't be considered."

"The less than credible testimony from Mr. and Mrs. Adams is distressing and makes them less credible as parents of two dead babies ought to be. That two people with a .05 and .10 would take the babies out unbelted is appalling," McKnight added.

However, she said, "He'd (Gervais) have the right of way if he was going the speed limit, but alcohol and speeding was involved. That amount of alcohol in his system is a fact of gross negligence."

Airport center is expanding

A ground-breaking ceremony for a 76,000-square-foot warehouse facility at Metro Airport Center was conducted Aug. 26.

Completion of the facility is expected by the end of the year, marking the 10th building constructed in the center since development began in 1989.

Mayor Beverly McAnally, City Council officials and executives from the Chicago-based Heitman Properties joined in the pre-noon festivities.

The 72-acre center is located adjacent to Detroit Metro Airport at the corner of Wayne and Goddard Roads.

The nine existing buildings and undeveloped land was purchased recently by Heitman Advisory Corp. on behalf of industrial clients.

Additional expansion is expected. Heitman Executive Vice President Ronald Berger said, "We consider (the Detroit Metro area) a strategic region to facilitate national and international commerce."

"Metro Airport Center continues to be successful today, because it satisfies a real marketplace need for high quality space," he said.

The new facility has been designed for air freight industries, as well as manufacturing, distribution and light industrial users.

Current tenants of the Metro Airport Center include Federal Express, KLM Royal Dutch Airlines, Nippon Express, Fritz Companies Inc. and Air Express International.

Board members fire school superintendent

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Dr. Edmond E. Beverly, superintendent of Inkster Schools, and the members of the Inkster Board of Education, have decided "to go their separate ways."

The 52-year-old Beverly, who has been with the school system for 16 years - the past five as the superintendent, was informed by letter that he would not to rehired, according to board officials.

Beverly had been on an extended summer vacation and on Friday confirmed that the board members planned to seek a replacement.

"At this point, we apparently have agreed to disagree," said Dr. Beverly. "Yes, I have been informed of the board's decision and I have retained an attorney to negotiate on my behalf. And I guess at this point I just want to get on with my professional life."

Calls to Beverly Johnson, board president, were not returned, however, past president of the board, Lorenzo A. Moner Jr., said that the board and Dr. Beverly "just didn't agree on what direction this school district should go."

Moner said he would withhold comment "at this time because, I feel, any information about this should come from the board."

Moner added that the board has selected Quentin L. Mingo, principal at Inkster High School, to serve "the interim school superintendent" until a permanent replacement could be found. He said that the board members may make further personnel changes on the junior and senior high levels.

Beverly is the second area school superintendent dumped in recent weeks. Dr. Larry Thomas, school superintendent of the Wayne-Westland schools, has also resigned after serving as the head of the 16,200- plus student population district for only three years.

A 1960 graduate of Inkster High School, Dr. Beverly received his bachelor's degree at Eastern Michigan University where he also was awarded his masters and specialist degrees. He earned his doctorate at the University of Michigan.

During Beverly's five-year tenure as superintendent, he managed to oversee the construction of a $13 million education complex that included a state-of-the-art elementary school building.

Voters interest turns to the economy, triplets

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
News Editor

A quick stop-over in Wayne for Lt. Governor Connie Binsfeld coincidentally came just after the announcement of 900 new jobs at the Ford Motor Co. Michigan Truck Plant.

"It couldn't happen at a better time. In the last five months, unemployment figures have been lower than any time in the past 20 years - lower than many of the surrounding states," said Binsfeld. "It is an exceptionally good sign that the changes made in Michigan are providing jobs for people who want to work and an incentive for businesses that want to expand."

Binsfeld said losses of jobs from the closing of the General Motors Corp. Willow Run Plant had a devastating effect on the surrounding area, and the news that automobile plants are once again hiring gives a boost to entire community.

When asked about questions on the minds of voters, Binsfeld said the impending birth of triplets to Governor John Engler and his wife, Michelle, has prompted a large share of the questions posed to her.

- Lt. Governor Connie Binsfeld

helle, has prompted a large share of the questions posed to her.

"Everyone is very interested. It was good news to all those close to John and Michelle. They were anxious to have children, and she had miscarried previously," said Binsfeld. "We have all been concerned about the triplets, but the good news is that she is doing very well and the babies are all growing at the same rate and doing very well. The most difficult part now may be to keep Michelle quiet and inactive until the triplets are born."

Binsfeld said the reduction of property taxes, schools and welfare reforms have also prompted many questions and comments from her constituents.

"People are very pleased about the passage of Proposal A. Many people that I've talked to said they had been 'just hanging on' to their homestead property. Many retirees said they had hoped to be able to keep their homes and remain in their communities, but ever-increasing property taxes threatened them," Binsfeld said. "The ability of older people to keep their homes has a resounding effect on families. Retirees don't have to give up their homes and relocate away from their families because of the tax burden."

Binsfeld said her constituents are concerned about good schools and good education.

"We are in a world wide economy, and we have to upgrade our educational system," Binsfeld said. "In the past, I don't think people voted against schools and education when they turned down millage requests. They voted 'no' because of necessity. They just could not afford more taxes."

The lieutenant governor said welfare reforms have received positive responses from residents, especially low-income working women.

"In the past, a single-parent in an entry-level, low-paying job would lose her insurance, but now there are waivers that can allow welfare recipients to move upwards without penalizing them by the loss of their Medicaid."

Binsfeld said the governor's innovative programs in welfare reform have been recognized nationally and the state has become a role model for others.

Between now and the general election, Binsfeld will be on the campaign trail.

Student prepares for college education

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

When Erika Ollila went off to summer music camp, it wasn't just for fun -- the John Glenn High School graduate was preparing herself for a college education and a career in music.

The 1994 high school graduate, who received music scholarships to attend Eastern Michigan University in the fall, plans to become a high school music teacher.

Ollila and nearly 200 other high school students attended the two-week Western Michigan University (WMU) music camp at a cost of just over $500 per student. A veteran of the camp, Ollila received a $300 scholarship the first time she attended during the summer of 1993.

Students interested in the program were selected based on their talents. The seminar focused on chamber music, providing students the opportunity to perform in small ensembles in addition to daily participation in band, orchestra or choir.

"The band at John Glenn can't reject anybody. It's difficult to get everybody together," Ollila said. "At the seminar, everybody is on the same playing level. It's focused more on independence and higher level learning."

"It's not only continuing my music education ... I made a lot of friends," Ollila said. "Before I went to Western, I wanted to go into marine biology. It changed my whole perspective."

Ollila and her twin sister, Alyson, have been practicing music since the fifth grade. Although Alyson Ollila attended the summer camp last year, this year she decided to forego the event, preparing herself for college where she will pursue a degree in elementary education.

However, that didn't stop the two 18-year-olds, who were born on July 17, from spending their birthday together as usual.

"Every year our birthday is in the middle of camp. We never spend it apart. All of the family came this year," Ollila said.

While attending college full-time, Ollila plans to work two part-time jobs to save enough money to attend Western to finish her bachelor of arts degree. During her studies, the music student will be required to learn how to play every type of musical instrument.

"I don't have to be proficient in each one. I just have to know the correct way to play them to teach my students. I also have to know how to fix them (instruments) too," Ollila said.

Unlike some other music teachers, Ollila said she does not plan to pursue a musical career outside of her teaching. She recounted a bad experience she had with a band teacher in high school.

"We had a band teacher ... who was involved in all the orchestras. He left ... and we had a substitute teacher for three months who was not very experienced. We told her how to do things," Ollila said.

The graduate said she would consider becoming involved in an orchestra only if she could not find teaching work.

Detroit Tigers sponsor annual statewide drive

Before Pablo Uranga was old enough to learn about America's greatest pastime, he learned about doctors, nurses and hospitals.

At age 2, he underwent surgery to repair a hole in his heart, and the blood he received from voluntary blood donors helped save his life.

There are many others like Pablo - cancer patients, burn victims, transplant patients and newborns - who depend on blood from voluntary donors.

And during holidays such as Labor Day weekend that need does not lessen, but a drop off in collections causes blood inventories to fall to critically low levels.

That's why the Detroit Tigers, WJR-AM 760 and WDIV-TV 4 picked Sept. 3 to sponsor the second annual Detroit Tigers Statewide Blood Drive.

"Everyone wants to enjoy the Labor Day holiday, but the Tigers are asking you to remember those in area hospitals depending on your blood donation," said Jim Price, director of community relations for the Detroit Tigers. "Unfortunately, the players' strike may prevent the Tigers from treating donors to a Tigers game as it has done in the past."

Drive hours are 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Drive sites in west Detroit are located in Dearborn, Canton and Livonia. Other sites in southeastern Michigan include Red Cross donor centers in Ann Arbor, Bloomfield Hills, Oak Park, Renaissance Center, Roseville and Southgate.

Other sites in Michigan will include Flint, Petoskey, Lansing and Muskegon.

Before the players' strike was called, the Detroit Tigers planned to give the first 500 drive participants in southeastern Michigan a pair of Tigers tickets to the September 9 or 10 game against the Baltimore Orioles. Drive attendees could also enter a drawing to throw the first pitch at the September 9 game. Tickets will be handed out to donors at the drive, in the event that the strike is called off in time for the game.

"Although the baseball season may end prematurely, the need for blood never ends. We still need residents of southeastern Michigan to support the blood drive," said Chris Rodgers, chief administrative officer for the American Red Cross, Southeastern Michigan Blood Services Region.

Collections decrease during the summer months as many donors go on vacation. Area high schools donate around 9 percent of the blood in southeastern Michigan and they are closed for the summer and universities and colleges have lower enrollments.

Every week, Red Cross needs to collect 5,500 pints of blood to be self sufficient in meeting the needs of patients at 54 hospitals in southeastern Michigan.

During the summer months, collections average less than 4,000 pints a week. Three-day holiday weekends such as Labor Day weekend worsen the situation because Red Cross is not able to collect blood on Monday, usually a day when around 800 pints of blood are collected.

Platelets, a component of blood that aids in clotting, only have a five-day usable life. For that reason, long holiday weekends can jeopardize platelet inventories. The Tigers drive will help ensure this important component is available throughout the holiday weekend and for the beginning of the following week.

"Last year, more than 300 pints of blood were collected in southeastern Michigan alone for the Tigers drive," said Rodgers.

To schedule an appointment to be a blood donor at one of the following Red Cross donor centers, call 1-800-582-4383.

candidates personally. I enjoy a meeting with the Rotary Clubs, women's, church and business groups," she said. I attend a lot of people and have been a guest on radio programs. I enjoy a question and answer format where I can express my many functions, meet with a views and ideas."

Commissioners pass tax levy

BY LAURIE HUMPHREY
ANP Staff Writer

Wayne County voters will be presented with one more issue on the Nov. 8 general election ballot.

The 15-member Wayne County Board of Commissioners met and approved Proposal C last Friday, calling for a 1-mill property tax levy to be used for non-mandated services. Dubbed "Clean and Green," the proposal would generate $28 million annually for the next 20 years to be spent on environmental clean-up and park beautification.

"Without protecting these services with dedicated revenues, we will continue to see them cut first and most severely in tight budgetary times. Without foresight, planning or funds, our parks will end up as vacant wastelands - and our contaminated sites will remain that way, while businesses opt to go elsewhere," reads the proposal.

Of the total projected revenues, $4 million would be used to bond a $40 million environmental clean-up fund; $12 million would be used to fund Wayne County parks, including a special $1 million annual appropriation for Belle Isle in Detroit; and $12 million would be reserved for the use of Wayne County communities, apportioned by their state equalized value (SEV), which is the method by which the revenues are collected. This formula does not take into account the $1 million already appropriated for Belle Isle by the county.

Bruce Patterson, 11th District Republican candidate for Wayne County Commissioner, opposes the tax increase introduced by Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara.

"The fact of the matter is that no part of the program which is being contemplated is mandated to be performed by the County of Wayne - it is not part of the county government's role," he said. "Essentially, it is another example of creeping county government and its ripe for abuse much like the juvenile detention facility that caused a tax increase to occur back in 1989, but still hasn't been built."

With a current budget of $1.8 billion, Patterson believes the county commissioners should focus on mandated programs or try to streamline their efforts with the other governments.

"Wayne County is not the cure all for the state ills," he said. "This is duplication (because the state already provides funds to the county to deal with environmental clean-up and park beautification). I'm not unaware that there are areas in the 11th District that could benefit from the money and if I were a pork-barrel candidate, I'd want to get more money for that district."

Democrat candidate Ken Warfield sees the proposal differently however.

"Citizens should take a hard look at this proposal, because it could bring over $1 million to our district - Wayne, Belleville, Romulus and Canton, Huron, Sumpter and Van Buren townships," he said. "Depending on how many environmental problems we have in the district, we could potentially get more money than we put in."

According to the numbers provided by the Wayne County Commissioners office, homeowners in the 11th District would contribute $2,805,122 annually, approximately 10 percent of the total revenue share.

Warfield explained that tax payers should look beyond the district boundaries however.

"A lot of people in this district would like to see Belle Isle as it was 25 to 30 years ago," he said. "The view from the point is magnificent. It is truly one of the jewels in Wayne County."

One of the questions surrounding this proposal is why McNamara waited so late to introduce the proposal to the Board of Commissioners. The County Executive submitted the proposal days before the cut-off date, leaving commissioners little time to research the issue.

"Historically, we are conservative when we are voting to put things on the ballot," said

Bryan Amann, outgoing Wayne County Commissioner for the 11th District, "but this proposal had enough merit to pass despite the short notice."

Amann was one of 11 commissioners who voted to put the "burning issue" on the ballot.

"Our role is not to pass judgment or question the issue itself," he said. "Our role is to determine if the issue is worth voter's review. It is the populist approach to government."

The county commissioner cited 165 cities in Wayne County that were in need of environmental clean-up, one-third of them are in the areas of Westland, Canton and Sumpter townships.

"While the clean-up is not necessarily the responsibility of the county government, we can start the clean-up process and then find the responsible party instead of having our property held hostage," said Amann. "We need non-polluted lands. There are three or four sites in Canton Township alone."

Joining Amann were Commissioners: Edna Bell-Detroit; Charmie Currie- Detroit; Odus Mathis-Detroit; Bernard Parker-Detroit; Michelle Pelwecki- Dearborn Heights, Redford; Ricardio Salamon-Detroit; George Cushinberry-Detroit; Kay Beard-Westland, Garden Vity, Inkster; and Arthur Blackwell-Highland Park, Hamtramck, Detroit. Voting against the proposal were commissioners: Edward Boike Jr.-Taylor, Flat Rock, Trenton, Brownstown; Sue Hubbard-Dearborn; Thaddeus McCotter-Livonia; William O'Neil-Al-len Park; and Andrew Richner-Grosse Pointe, Harper Woods and Detroit.

Open Letter to the Citizens of Romulus:

For many months now, our company, EDS, has been embroiled in a controversial dispute with the Romulus City Government.

This controversy has been fueled by a small group referring to themselves as RECAP, which have relied on assertions not based in fact and scare tactics to frighten and intimidate your fellow citizens. Although RECAP has argued that they are serving the needs of the City, the real truth is that through the use of misinformation and misinterpretation of data, they have cost you, are currently costing and ultimately will cost you in the future millions of tax and royalty dollars.

Before RECAP came on the scene, the City and EDS enjoyed three years of cooperation and were on the road to a successful project - fully approved by City, State and Federal governments and capable of providing real benefits to the Community: a sizable royalty, increased tax revenues, and jobs. And it's not too late. If we can clear away the confusion and move forward, this project will make a substantial contribution to Romulus.

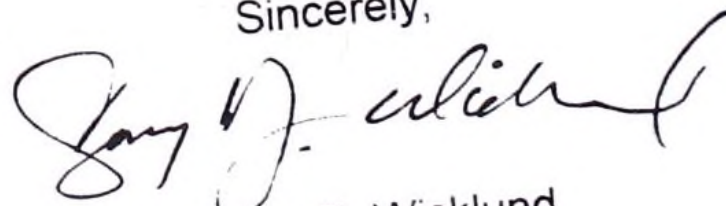

RECAP's tactics have only worked to seriously undermine the City's financial position. Because of RECAP's hysterical actions, this community has wasted over $300,000 on lawyers and the case hasn't even gone to trial yet, let alone through the appeals process. This money could have been spent on important city services such as police, fire, roads and programs for senior citizens and children.

We respectfully ask you to consider the issues at hand. When RECAP makes wild statements about "cancer", "deformed children" and "catastrophes", don't be taken in by their distortions and scare tactics. Ask them to back up their claims with solid evidence. They can't because there is none. If there was, do you really think that the federal and Michigan governments would have both given wholehearted approval for our project or that Romulus City officials would have idly stood by and not protested during the extensive EPA and DNR permitting process? If RECAP is so sure of their statements, why don't they start paying the lawyers? Why should you, the honest, hard-working taxpayers of Romulus, finance RECAP's battle?

Enough is enough. The fact remains that after all RECAP's hysterics, a solid majority of Romulus citizens want this issue settled out of court, so that Romulus can continue on with the good government it once enjoyed.

Our deepwell has already been constructed to EPA and DNR specifications at enormous cost and it will remain under continuous DNR and EPA monitoring to ensure that it operates safely. We are here to stay. EDS is a legitimate and professionally organized company that has the approval of the United States Environmental Protection Agency and the Michigan Department of Natural Resources. We're going to prevail in this dispute one way or the other - either through the court system or through a negotiated settlement. An out-of-court settlement will potentially benefit you, the taxpayers, to the tune of millions of additional dollars of tax savings and royalty revenues and will eliminate years of dissension and controversy in your community. It will also allow us to contribute the significant benefits to Romulus in terms of jobs and taxes that we had planned on from the beginning.

Sincerely,

Douglas F. Wicklund
President

Injury sidelines Wheatley 'for 2 to 3 weeks'

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Tyrone Wheatley's dream of owning the Heisman Trophy may turn into a nightmare.

The 6-4, 230-pound former Robichaud High superstar, upon whose shoulders the University of Michigan hoped to ride to the national collegiate football championship in 1994, suffered yet another setback in his bid for the trophy after he sustained a shoulder separation during a scrimmage.

The injury may sideline Wheatley, considered the best running back in the college ranks today, for at least the first and maybe the second game of the season, according

- Robert Yauck
Robichaud High football coach to Gary Moeller, the Wolverines' head coach.

The Wolverines, ranked fourth nationally in some polls, will open up the campaign at 3:30 p.m. Sept. 3, hosting Boston College. Then, on Sept. 10, U of M will travel to Notre Dame (No. 5), and if Wheatley isn't in the Wolverine lineup his chances of the Heisman will diminish greatly, according to area coaches.

After a bye on Sept. 17, Michigan takes on the country's second-ranked team, Colorado, a team many say is better than Arizona, which goes into the season carrying the onus of No. 1.

The enigmatic Wheatley made national headlines last year during the NFL draft when he announced that he would not be eligible for the draft and would be returning to the college classroom this fall.

Robert Yauck, Robichaud High football coach who was Wheatley's coach and mentor during his four years at Robichaud, said that Wheatley needs to play in the Notre Dame game if he hopes to remain a serious candidate for the Heisman.

"Tyrone's threshold for pain is great and, believe me if it's humanly possible for him to play - he will play."

"When we were involved in the state playoffs if you recall, Tyrone suffered an injury to his hand that would have kept any other player sidelined. He came right back the next week and played. The rest is history."

Yauck was referring to the injury Wheatley suffered in the first game of the Class B playoffs against Mt. Clemens. He sustained torn ligaments and came back wearing a cast on his left hand.

Robichaud went on to win the 1990 Class B state football championship, its first-ever state football title.

"Wheatley can take a lot of punishment," Yauck said. "I just can't see him sitting on the sidelines when the team needs him."

'Sudden death' playoff decides junior golf title

A "sudden death" playoff was needed to decide the title in the 13-14 age bracket for the 15th annual junior golf tournament staged recently at the Westland Municipal Golf Course.

Brad Volas, representing Canton Township, and Craig Piscopink of Wayne, wound up with identical 35s for nine holes in the duel for medalist honors.

Volas and Piscopink were sent back to the course to settle their differences and when Piscopink bogied the first hole and Volas checked in with a par for the extra hole, Volas was ruled the winner.

More than 115 young golfers, including nine girls, competed in the 15th annual tournament which is cosponsored by Burger King and the Westland Parks and Recreation Department.

"It was a great tournament," said Bob Kosowski, a Westland recreation official who served as tournament director. "We had perfect weather. I felt that all of the participants enjoyed the competition."

Burger King spokesperson Stephen Polsinelli agreed. He noted that the tournament "gives the youth of both Wayne and Oakland counties a unique opportunity to compete in an exciting and popular sport."

The competitors were divided into brackets according to age groups: 11-12 years; 13-14, and 15 and 16.

In the 11-12 year-old girls' division, Westland Colleen Yorick finished with a 58 to easily coast to victory. In the runnerup slot was Jaida Claridge, also from Westland, who carded a 75.

In the meantime, Anthony Fotiu turned back a tough competitor in David Moss. The 11-year-old Fotiu edged Moss by three-strokes to post a 39-42 victory over his closest rival.

In the girls' 15-16 division, Westland golfer Elizabeth Handzlik held off Kristan Koleczko to win by two strokes. Handzlik toured the nine-holes with a 67, while Koleczko turned in a 69.

Only one-stroke separated the winner from the runner-up in the boys' 15-16 age group. John Rogin won a narrow 37-38 victory over Joe Schimizzi in one of the most thrilling finishes in the tournament.

Westland golfer is finalist

A Westland golfer will be swinging for megabucks next month.

After nine days of qualifying rounds, Kathy Ahren of Westland survived the cut and will be playing for a grand prize of $1 million.

Ahren is one of 45 finalists to advance to the final rounds of the Ronald McDonald Children's Charities (RMCC) hole-in-one Shoot Out staged last week at Willow Creek Golf Course and Sports Center.

Fighting gusty winds, finalists gave it their best shot at a hole-in-one for the million-dollar prize and the $200,000 Pulte Home bonus round prize.

Even though Ahren wasn't one of the top golfers during the finals, she didn't leave empty-handed. For the shot that landed 6 1/2 inches from the pin she made during the qualifying rounds, Kathy was awarded a digital thermostat from Andy's Heating and Cooling. She also was awarded a Kitchenaid mixer from Whirlpool.

Canton crowns softball champs

After finishing second-best during the regular season, Kenny's First Place Bar & Grill redeemed itself in the playoffs and claimed the Canton Men's Softball Playoffs title.

The champs won the championship at the expense of Metro Direct.

Scoring four times in the opening frame and adding four more runs in the fifth, Kenny's chalked up an impressive 12-8 victory over their final rivals to earn their first playoff title.

The champs breezed into the final round.

They routed American Yazaki in the opening game, 20-4, then disposed of Rusty Nail 16-10, and also turned back Action Landscape, 21-8, to reach the finals where Metro Direct was waiting for them.

In an earlier encounter, Kenny's got a scare from Metro and survived 13-10.

Metro's path to the finals also was an easy one. The playoff runner-up defeated Lobdell Emery-Canton Sports by a score of 13-5, then met ASAP Machine in a slugfest.

Metro came out of that meeting with a 15-8 win, advancing to the semifinal round where they clashed with A. G. Edwards. Metro dumped Edwards 15-4 to qualify for the championship.

Kenny's/First Place Bar and Grill received outstanding performances at the plate from Randy Brooks, Chris Drake and Darrell Garner.

"It was an excellent playoff series," noted Bob Dates, recreation supervisor. "The top 16 teams from the regular season Canton Parks and Recreation leagues started the tournament and Kenny's surfaced as the winner."

2 ex-Wayne stars shine for Western

Two former Wayne Memorial High School football stars are among the 45 returning letter-winners on the Western Michigan University 1994 football roster.

Sophomore defensive end Jason Bodden and senior split end Larry Johnson will make their debuts on Sept. 3 against Miami University in Oxford, Ohio.

Bodden, a 1992 Wayne graduate, is a 6-3, 235-pound starter at end who played in 36 of 44 possible quarters during the 1993 campaign. He was credited with eight tackles.

Johnson played in 39 quarters and caught 30 passes for 397 yards and one touchdown.

2 men accused of armed robbery face trial

By JENNIFER PLACINTO

Two Detroit men, who were charged with three counts of armed robbery after a Westland store owner helped police nab them, were bound over to Detroit Recorder's Court after waiving their right to preliminary examinations in Westland 18th District Court.

Kurt Kevin Edwards, 32, and Shaun Duvall Boyer, 29, face maximum sentences of life in prison if convicted of the charges.

Boyer's attorney, Stanford Rubicks, attempted to get his clients bond reduced from $75,000 cash to $50,000/10 percent, saying Boyer was only accused of aiding and abetting by driving the get-away vehicle.

"He was just put on probation for carrying a concealed weapon ... less than two months before he became involved in this circumstance," Wayne County Prosecutor Thomas Trzcinski said. "He was in possession of stolen items in the car. He had a sum of money on his person totaling $31 in singles," the prosecutor said, adding that since the store owner followed them from the robbery site, "the likelihood of conviction is great."

After the two allegedly fled from the McDonald's restaurant at 5235 S. Merriman Aug. 14, owner Roy Jason III foiled their plans by following them and notifying local police of the incident and the chase from his car phone.

Allen Park and Dearborn police stopped the driver of the 1987 blue two-door Chrysowner escorted the armed man to the front register where he was instructed to open the drawer and the robber grabbed an undisclosed amount of cash. The perpetrator then said, "I want the back cash," referring to the rear drive-through window register, police said. The owner opened that drawer and the robber took the cash. He then asked where the safe was and the owner led him to it, but was unable to open the safe because he did not have the key.

The angered assailant said, "C'mon you're going with me," and ordered the cashier and two witnesses who were standing near the fryers to get down on the ground with their faces down, according to police.

As he walked out, the robber used his knife to cut off three gold bracelets from the cashier's arm. He then walked the owner to the front counter and instructed him to get on the ground and cut the phone lines to both store phones, police said.

As the assailant walked out the north door of the building, Jason got up and saw a car pull through the drive-through area. According to police, the robber yelled, "C'mon, c'mon," hurriedly to the vehicle driver. After the robber got inside, the Chrysler drove off slowly southbound onto Merriman and Jason got in his car and pursued the two, police said.

lowed them down the I-94 freeway.

The incident occurred around 7:10 a.m. when the perpetrator walked into McDonald's, placed an order and then pulled out a 4-7/8-inch lock blade knife, police said.

When he instructed the cashier to "open the drawer and give me the money" while holding the knife over the counter, the frightened cashier ran to the back of the store and yelled for the owner, police said.

The robber then went around the counter and followed the woman toward the back of the store. Meanwhile, the cashier was met by Jason, who upon learning of the incident, instructed her to go downstairs while he approached the front of the store.

He was met by the robber who said, "I want all your money," and showed him the knife, according to police. The

A 20-year-old Westland man, accused of holding a knife to a motorist's throat in early July, is scheduled for a Nov. 22 bench trial before Detroit Recorder's Judge John Patrick O'Brien on charges of assault with a dangerous weapon.

Ronrico Delon Moton was released on a $5,000 personal conditional bond with the stipulation that he does not drink any alcohol. If convicted of the crime, Moton faces a maximum sentence of four years in prison and/or a $2,000 fine.

Moton is accused of stopping a driver on Venoy Road near the Grand Traverse intersection in Westland July 3. The accused offense allegedly reached into the victim's car and held a 3-inch, single-edged knife to the complainant's throat while threatening him, Westland police Sgt. Donald Haigh said.

Kim, Jae-Keun (top right) said he is very proud to have a garden of his own.

N Y T H I N G G R O W S

A little tender loving care goes a long, long way.

Residents of Tae Keuk Village in Wayne understand that message. They have once again produced a bountiful garden this year with vegetables and fruits to share with friends and families.

"It seems whatever they plant it grows," said Sunpok Choi, residential manager. "They really enjoy working in the garden together."

The garden is one of the landmarks of the City of Wayne. For more than five years the residents have been caring for their garden of paradise.

There are three residents who supervise the 74 plots throughout the garden which include Doo-Yang Chong, Kum-Ryon Chung and Keum-Yeo Cha. The individual plots also host Korean red peppers and onions.

"It all started with a few residents who decided in 1989 that they wanted to have their own garden," Choi said. "They began planting a few things in a small area.

Then, slowly the other residents wanted to have their own garden.

"Instead of just having small patches here and there, we decided to make the entire area a garden."

In November the residents plant garlic so by July they can harvest it. They typically begin working on the garden in March.

"Each year it gets better and better," Choi said. "They keep adding things. In 1992 they even put up a greenhouse. It seems to have a new look from year to year."

There are approximately 28 Catholic Koreans at Tae Keuk who donate a portion of whatever they grow to their church in Southfield.

"They each buy their own supplies," Choi said. "There are some residents who can spend the whole day out there."

Tae Keuk residents also plant sesame seeds which they use to make cooking oil or as a seasoning.

"We also plant sweet potatoes and water celery," Choi said. "the water celery we harvest seven times a year. This is excellent soil, and we have a lot of green thumbs here."

Area youths harvest fruits of labor on Job Connection fields

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
News Editor

A unique summer program has turned eight urban youths into gardeners and taught them skills that can turn into future jobs in the horticultural and landscaping fields.

As part of the Summer Youth Program, headed by the Wayne County Job Connection, the eight youths teamed up to plant crops, care for them and, finally, harvest the bounty.

"I have a real feeling of accomplishment," said Juliet LaFrier of Canton Township, who hopes to work in a greenhouse in the future. "I like the idea of getting a wider knowledge of plants and how to care for them. It is experience I can build on for working in a greenhouse and even in my backyard garden."

Inkster resident Gregory William, 14, enjoyed the transformation of a weed-infested lot into a crop-producing harvest, and also appreciated compliments that he received for his work.

After harvesting the eggplants in the garden at the Wayne County Regional Education Service Agency (RESA) in Wayne, Juliet, 18, brought some home to make a Middle Eastern eggplant dip, "babaganoush," for her co-workers.

Ronna Jones hopes to work with flowers, perhaps in a florist shop or greenhouse, and Amy Vogler also wants a future job in a similar setting.

Danny Schaar, 19, has not only learned gardening skills during the summer, but he was learned to drive the tractor and to make repairs on it.

"The training in gardening and also on using the equipment such as driving tractors and using soil tiling machines was the best part of the program," Danny said. "We visited the hydroponic garden at Willow Run Farms and it was really cool. I'd like to work in a greenhouse or in hydroponic gardening."

Elham Aljehaf of Dearborn is known to her fellow students as "Super Woman."

"Fishing in the pond," was named as her favorite activity in the summer program.

"She's smart. She's bright and she's a good worker. Whatever you ask her to do, she does," said program instructor Lina Pomponio. "She's one of our best students."

The program, which is a cooperative effort of RESA, the Wayne-Westland School and the University of Michigan/School of Education, consists of both employment skills and academics.

"The students do landscape designing for the flower beds on the site and also work on academic skills related to their potential employment in landscaping and horticulture," said instructor Sarah Addae. "On the days when it was too wet and rainy to work outside, we studied indoors."

On June 27, the eight-week program began with orientation, hand tool safety instruction and vegetable garden design. Lawn maintenance and flower bed design training was the subject of the second week of classes, while tree and shrub pruning, weeding, integrated pest management and greenhouse operations.

Lawn maintenance and plant identification were on the program for the fourth week and computer-aided drafting and a one-day field trip to local landscape nurseries and greenhouse was made during the fifth week. The final weeks of the program involved garden maintenance, equipment repair, weeding and the harvesting of the vegetables.

The crop included peppers, tomatoes, eggplants, cabbage, zucchini, cucumbers, green beans, radishes, carrots, lettuce, onions, pumpkins, squash and corn, which are sold by the youth. All proceeds are put into a fund to begin the program next year.

Reginald Shealey is accused of cutting one Wayne man several times and hitting another resident with a blunt object. He was allegedly involved in a fight with the two victims.

"The altercation occurred at a party July 24 at a resident's home on Annapolis," Johnson said. "Several people showed up including the defendant."

"A fight began at which time one victim was cut pretty severely and another victim was struck with a wooden object."

Shealey appeared for an examination Aug. 17 before 29th District Court Judge Carolyn Archbold, and it was waived. A $100,000 cash bond was continued for Shealey.

Johnson said Wayne resident Howard Huff who was one of the victims was cut several times in the head and body. He was treated at An-

DREAMS: MORE THAN JUST SUGARPLUMS

by Kenneth Pitts, M.D.

Enjoying GOOD HEALTH

Ever been chased by a pelican? Fallen off a rainbow? Walked around your old neighborhood at night and couldn't find your way home? Maybe in your dreams.

Dreams — those seemingly senseless movies we see in our minds at night — are a phenomenon that's been around for 140 million years.

Although we still have a long way to go to really know what dreams are all about, we have learned quite a bit. One thing we know for sure: Our dreams can teach us much about ourselves and our problems.

Dreams uncover painful pasts

In 1905, psychoanalyst Sigmund Freud shared his beliefs that dreams had deep meaning, and were important tools in psychological treatment.

Freud believed that everyone has a place in their minds for buried or "repressed" information, which is not available to us by ordinary methods of recall. The buried information involves painful experiences, memories, and feelings related to disturbing events in our pasts. Although we are not aware of them, these repressed memories are still active in our lives, and influence our current behavior.

Dreams, according to Freud, could help patients uncover the painful material that was causing unhealthy behavior. By confronting these painful experiences, recognizing, understanding, and accepting them, patients gained freedom to handle the conflict in a healthier way.

Freud's notions still apply today

Today, it is widely believed that dreams perform a valuable function. When we dream, we are actually "thinking while asleep" — so we can be solving problems, easing tensions, and working out conflicts even when we're deep in slumber. Happy dreams may even compensate for the bad things happening in our lives.

Don't feel bad if you can't interpret your dreams. Just the fact that you are dreaming means that you're accomplishing something. And if you're one of those people who says, "I don't dream," guess what? Everybody dreams.

So, dream on! Even while you're asleep, you can gain a wealth of knowledge about yourself and others.

ORGANIZING THE WEDDING

Wedding plans can be organized calmly, in a stress-free manner

Planning a wedding can be one of the most stressful times for a couple, but it doesn't have to be that way if it is done calmly and in an organized manner.

From the time the proposal takes place, the various events of a wedding can be divided into checklists for the bride and groom. For example, 12 months prior to the wedding the couple can complete the following: set the date; establish a budget and decide the kind of wedding you would like; determine time and location for ceremony and reception; discuss the honeymoon travel plans; and contact your clergyman or the individual who will officiate the ceremony.

There are several important tasks, however, the bride and groom must individually handle six to 12 months before the wedding. For the bride, she needs to choose her maid (or matron) of honor and attendants as well as plan the reception.

The bride must also decide on the color scheme of her wedding as well as select the wedding gown, veil, accessories and order attendants' dresses. If she wants to, an engagement announcement can also be sent to local newspapers and the groom's home newspaper.

For the groom, his checklist is a bit less. He needs to select his best man and ushers as well as prepare a guest list and make reservations for the honeymoon.

Three to four months before the wedding, the happy couple should look for a new home or apartment and purchase their wedding rings.

The bride at this point needs to complete the following: confirm guest list; order invitations and personal stationary; mothers should select their gowns; register, with bridal gift registry at the store or your choice; shop for trousseau and going-away outfit; make necessary arrangements for time off from work; and confirm delivery date of wedding gown and veil.

The groom should select his wedding attire as well as the attire for his best man, ushers and fathers. He should also give a completed guest list to the bride or her parents and make the necessary arrangements for time off from work.

Two months before the wedding, the bride needs to address her wedding invitations, provide maps for out-of-town guests, order flowers, order the wedding cake, choose gifts for the attendants and order accessories including the ring pillow, guest book, cake knife.

The groom at this time should choose gifts for the best man and ushers.

Approximately a month before the wedding, the couple can apply for the marriage license, make arrangements for change of beneficiaries in insurance policies, finalize ceremony details and finalize the menu for reception and arrangements for valet parking service.

The bride at this time needs to: mail initiations; have final fittings for bridal gown and attendants' dresses; confirm with groom's parents arrangements for rehearsal dinner; attend to accommodations for out-of-town guests; have hair done as you will wear it for the wedding; have the portrait taken and purchase the groom's wedding gift.

The groom should attend to accommodations for out-of-town guests, purchase bride's wedding gift and plan the bachelor party.

Two weeks before the wedding the bride can decide on the seating plan for the reception and make table tents or individual place cards. She should also complete the following: confirm reception list and inform caterer of final number of guests; arrange for your belongings to be moved to your new home; promptly acknowledge wedding gifts with thank-you notes; make a list for the photographer of special photographs you will want taken; arrange for name and address changes for driver's license, bank accounts, social security and mail forwarding to new address.

Just before the big day arrives, the couple together should confirm all times with the clergyman and wedding party, address announcements to be mailed on the wedding day and prepare fees for the clergyman and musicians.

The bride needs to reconfirm all arrangements with the caterer, florist, photographer, musicians, baker and anyone else involved with the wedding reception.

The groom should give the clergyman's fee to the best man, pack for the honeymoon and pick up all tickets and reconfirm reservations for the honeymoon.

Music plays key role in ceremony

Music can be the key to having a successful wedding ceremony and reception.

It provides a mood as guests arrive and are being seated. It also serves as a dramatic entrance for the bride as she walks down the aisle.

Because of the wide variety of music available today, entertainment can fit almost any budget.

For the ceremony itself, you may want to consider the possibility of the church organ. Feel free to consult with the organist on the choice of appropriate selections suitable to your own musical preferences and the style of the wedding you will be having.

Or, if you wish, hire a professional singer or have the choir perform. Perhaps you have a talented friend or relative whom you know would be honored at being asked to sing at your wedding.

If you prefer strictly instrumentals, consider having a guitarist, flutist or harpist perform. Any of these instruments can serve as a solo musical performance or you can combine a flute with a harp for a lovely effect.

The couple can also consider a string quartet which can contribute a touch of elegance to the ceremony.

Many musicians are finding that brides are looking for classical music to be played at the ceremony.

During the 30-minute period that guests are arriving, plan for pre-ceremony music.

If you are considering a disc jockey for the reception, consider the following:

- What dates are open? It's best to book as early as possible for a disc jockey so you have a firm commitment on your reception hall.

- How long has the disc jockey been in business? Always look for and deal with a company that has a track record.

- Does your disc jockey use commercial sound equipment? Remember that in-house sound equipment is not the same.

Disc jockeys can tailor their music to suit any wedding theme.

Wedding customs remain traditional, are timeless

When wedding bells start to ring, soon-to-be brides begin to think about something old, something new, something borrowed, something blue.

Remember, wedding customs have been a tradition carried on for centuries. But where did it all come from?

The bridal shower, for example, evolved from the time a marriage was considered a business proposition between the parents of the bride and groom. It wasn't as important for the bride and groom to be in love as it was for the bride's dowry to be considerable.

The first shower came about, according to old tales, when a poor Dutch miller fell in love with a maiden whose father forbade the match and refused to provide a dowry. The miller's friends came to the rescue and showered the bride-to-be with an abundance of gifts.

The following is a history behind other wedding customs:

• The bride's Handkerchief - Early farmers thought a bride's wedding day tears were lucky and brought rain for their crops. Later, a crying bride meant that she'd never shed another tear about her marriage.

• Attendants' Attire - Why do all the attendants in the wedding party dress so much alike? It was once common for bride, groom and all their friends to walk together to the church. Afraid that someone -- maybe a rejected suitor -- would spot the happy couple and put a curse on them, the groom's friends wore clothes almost identical to his -- and the women dressed themselves like the bride.

• Over the Threshold - Because ancient man stole his bride, he carried her over the threshold kicking and shouting.

• The Wedding Ring - The circle shape symbolizes eternal love. But, in ancient Egypt before coins were minted, gold rings were used as currency. To show he trusted his wife with his money, the Egyptian husband placed one of these rings on her finger. The ancients thought that love traveled to the heart in the vein of the third finger, left hand -- just where a person wears the wedding ring today.

• Bouquet and Boutonniers - Early bridesmaids' bouquets were made of pungent herbs like thyme and garlic -- not flowers. The smell was supposed to scare away any bad fairies eyeing the bridal party.

• The Blue Satin Garter - In ancient Israel, brides wore a blue ribbon to signify fidelity. The garter-throwing itself derives from a bawdy ritual called "flinging the stocking."

Tossing Rice -- In the days when people lived off the land, the existence depended on having a good harvest and enough children to help with all the work. Primitive people believed the bride and groom spread good luck on their wedding day. Anyone or anything that touched them would also be lucky. So, they showered the couple with ripe grain or nuts, wishing a large harvest for themselves -- and a large family for the newlyweds.

• Wedding Cake - Early Roman brides and grooms weren't legally wed until they ate together. A priest broke a flat wheat loaf over the bride's head. Then everyone shared the crumbs. Why? It's the old belief of passing luck and fertility back and forth between newlyweds and guests. Elizabethans piled up little cakes and the bride and groom had to kiss without the stack falling.

Quote of the Week

"Yes, I have been informed of the board's decision and I have retained an attorney to negotiate on my behalf. I guess at this point I just want to get on with my professional life."

Dr. Edmond E. Beverly, superintendent of Inkster Schools, commenting on Inkster Board of Education members firing him.

Of Note

Suspect sought in unarmed robbery

Westland police are investigating the unarmed robbery of an elderly woman who was accosted while sitting on her front porch, according to Westland police Sgt. Marc Stobbe. The incident occurred around 7:30 p.m. Aug. 25 outside the 70-year-old woman's home, located on the 32500 block of Birchwood. The perpetrator ran up toward the victim, knocked her down and took the imitation gold bracelet from her wrist, Stobbe said.

The victim was not injured during the attack and police are in search of the alleged robber, described as a heavy white male in his 40s.

Woman, 84, fights burglars with cane

Although she was injured during the incident, an 84-year-old Romulus woman frightened off a trio of burglars with her cane on Aug. 22 before they could steal anything from her home.

Police said the trio entered the victim's Ecorse Road home about 4 p.m., while the woman was watching television.

As she walked out of her bedroom, police said, she spotted two of the men in her hallway. The intruders demanded to know where she kept her money, police said.

The elderly woman said she didn't have any cash in the house and immediately began swatting the pair with her cane. The taller of the pair called out "let's get out of here" and fled pushing the woman against the wall.

The woman struck her head while falling and later was flown to University of Michigan Hospital for treatment of her head injuries.

Police have released a sketch of one of the suspects, who drove the getaway car.

Man, 22, sought for public sex act

Westland police are seeking a warrant for the arrest of a 22-year-old Garden City man for allegedly performing a "sexual act" in public during the early afternoon hours Aug. 23, according to Westland police Sgt. Michael Terry.

The perpetrator was in the parking lot outside Service Merchandise, located at 7365 Nankin Boulevard in Westland, when the alleged incident occurred.

The driver pulled his car alongside a Westland woman's vehicle and "performed a sexual act" in front of her, she told police.

The victim was able to get the alleged offender's license plate number and police located the suspect.

Service agency to receive grant

The Michigan Jobs Commission recently announced a $50,000 Community Services Block Grant (CSBG) award to Wayne Metropolitan Community Services Agency (WMCSA) which covers Wayne County.

The grant award will be used to continue consulting services.

Fatal accident

Emergency run turns into tragedy, 2 killed

BY LAURIE HUMPHREY
ANP Staff Writer

Three Westland children were left parentless Wednesday as a result of an early morning car accident at the intersection of Canton Center and Warren roads in Canton Township.

According to preliminary reports, Samir Alfred Ansara, 44, was traveling east bound on Warren when he disregarded a blinking red light and struck a Canton Rescue Squad heading north bound on Canton Center. His wife, Nadia Samir Ansara, 16-year-old daughter, Tina, and 12-year-old daughter, Lisa were also in the Cadillac DeVille. The youngest daughter, Amy, was at a relative's house at the time of the accident.

Democratic State Representative Justine Barnes, a neighbor to the Ansara family, was shocked to hear of the loss.

"They were a lovely family. Very family-oriented," she said.

The couple was returning from a birthday celebration at the Windsor Casino. Ansara, a self-employed jeweler, took his wife out for her 36th birthday, said Barnes.

The couple stopped in Canton Township to pick up their daughters from an uncle's house. The two older girls headed to their Tawas Street residence with their parents while Amy, who was sleeping, was left behind.

Artist strives for notoriety

By MARGO DEWEY
Deputy News Editor

Wayne resident Betty Schneller has a dream of becoming a famous artist one day.

Her inspiration didn't come from taking art classes or visiting museums. Schneller said she obtained her creative edge for drawing from her favorite artist, Vincent van Gogh.

"I have several of his books," Schneller said. "In my opinion he was the best artist ever. I had taken a few art courses in the past, one from an oriental woman. She taught me how to draw people. Now, any time I have friends here, they want me to draw them."

Schneller has been drawing for more than 16 years. She has completed at least 200 works of art.

"I would like the opportunity now to sell my drawings at an art show or in a museum," Schneller said. "I'm planning to take a break now from drawing. I like sketching, and I'm presently working on a bouquet of flowers."

Schneller said her thirst for art derived from her desire to express herself in a creative way.

"I wanted to express how I felt, and I found that through drawing, you can say so many things," Schneller said.

Betty Schneller admires the work of Vincent van Gogh so much that she decided to recreate some of his most famous drawings. ANP photo by Kimberly Woloskie

Murder suspect convicted

The manslaughter conviction of a Taylor juvenile last week in connection with the shooting death of a former Romulus High School football player has angered the victim's father to the point where he says he may not even attend the defendant's sentencing on Sept. 30.

Bruce Jones of Romulus, father of 19-year-old Christopher Warren Jones, declared hours after the manslaughter verdict was announced by Recorder Judge Gershwin Drain on Wednesday morning, "I feel our family was robbed. But what is even more important, is the implication it has for society in the future."

The Jones youth was killed by a single shot fired from a .22 calibre handgun held by 15-year-old Nathan Younce on Feb. 22, outside old Mount Pleasant School in Romulus.

Jones had stopped at the school building about 9:10 p.m. that night to pick up his girl friend, Theresa McCarroll, who was attending adult education classes there.

A verbal altercation reportedly occurred between Jones and Younce in the parking lot. Police report that at one point Jones had a baseball bat in his hands and Younce had a pistol that had its serial number filed off in his hands.

Police report Younce admitting that he followed Jones toward his vehicle and shot him once. Jones reportedly then staggered into the school and collapsed in the hallway.

Romulus Emergency Medical Technicians were summoned and Jones was taken to Annapolis Hospital, where he was pronounced dead.

"One of the ironies," Jones' father said, "is that my son supported gun controls, which I do not. He was actually killed

Area man faces pre-trial for murder

By JENNIFER PLACINTO

A 38-year-old Wayne man was arraigned in Westland 18th District Court on charges of first-degree murder in connection with the brutal stabbing death of Westland resident Jane Fray, whose body was found with a knife stuck through her mouth, according to Westland police Sgt. Terry Donohue.

Ricky Alan Amolsch is accused of killing the 34-year-old woman at her residence on Aug. 23. The defendant is scheduled for a Sept. 8 preliminary examination in 18th District Court.

Ms. Fray's body was located on the bedroom floor of her trailer home, located at 609 Cashew Street in the Westland Meadows Trailer Park, according to police.

The victim's mother discovered the body around around 10:52 a.m., Donohue said. According to police, the woman became suspicious when her daughter's vehicle remained outside her trailer home after the woman should have left for work.

The victim suffered multiple stab wounds in the chest, neck and head, Donohue said. A long kitchen knife, believed to be from the victim's home, was used to commit the fatal act, he added.

The 6-foot 2-inch tall, 200-pound defendant was arrested after neighbors reported they heard arguing in the trailer between 4:30 and 5 a.m. that morning.

Westland 'hero' arrested for robbery

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

A Westland man who was deemed a "hero" for capturing the suspected assailant of longtime civil rights activist Rosa Parks, was arrested by federal investigators Thursday afternoon in connection with a "staged" bank robbery, according to Hank Glaspie, Federal Bureau of Investigations (FBI) public relations officer.

Known by several different aliases, FBI agents believe the 27-year-old man's name is Mario Jefferson. Other names used by the defendant are Mario Shakoar and Ramiah Mario Jefferson, Glaspie said.

Jefferson was arraigned on charges of bank embezzlement in U.S. District Court on Friday. According to Glaspie, Jefferson was interviewed about his possible participation in the crime in July of 1991. Since then, FBI agents had lost track of Jefferson.

Lt. Charles Schumacher, a member of the Michigan State Police Northville Post, said three or four people witnessed the accident.

"They estimated the Cadillac to be going in excess of 40 miles per hour," he said. "We haven't determined how fast the ambulance was going."

Investigators were not able to find brake marks from either vehicle. Witnesses agree the brakes lights on the Cadillac were never visible.

Schumacher would not speculate about the cause of the accident. He is waiting for autopsy results, which could take a couple weeks.

A doctor from the nearby Oakwood Canton Medical facility pronounced the couple dead at the scene while rescue personnel from Westland, Canton and Plymouth Townships rushed to care for the children and two injured rescue personnel.

"When the accident occurred, the Canton firefighters were responding to a call for help," said Canton Fire Chief Michael Rorabacher. "The ambulance had their lights and sirens on."

The oldest daughter, a junior at John Glenn High School, was transported for leg injuries to St. Joseph's Hospital in Ypsilanti by a medical flight helicopter. Lisa, a student at Marshall Junior High, was transported by Plymouth Township Fire personnel to the same hospital for minor injuries.

The firefighters were also transported to St. Joseph's Hospital by Canton Township rescue personnel. The 30-year-old driver, a seven-year veteran, sustained a closed-head injury while the passenger, 33, a two-year veteran, was treated for minor leg injuries and released that night.

"It may take a week or two before the driver returns to work," said Rorabacher. "He is having trouble remembering the accident, but the doctor said that is normal for his injury."

Barnes is not sure where the children will go once they leave the hospital, saying she has seen some relatives at the house, but not the children.

"The tragedy is those girls being by themselves," she said. "Well, they are not completely by themselves, but they are not with mom and dad. The youngest one, that is the only home she has known because they have lived there more than six years."

The representative best remembers the Ansara family for their smiling faces and big hearts, she said.

She will be one of many people paying tribute to the family at the Harry J. Will Funeral Home at 37000 Six Mile in Livonia. Visitation is from 6 to 9 p.m. Sunday and Monday. The funeral will be conducted at 11 a.m. Tuesday in St. Mary's Antiochian Orthodox Church, 18100 Merriman in Livonia.

Rorabacher noted that the Wayne Fire Department also assisted by responding to an unrelated request for rescue during the incident.

"It was a joint effort," he said. "We're really fortunate to have the mutual aid agreement. Westland firefighters returned to Canton Station 1 to stand by until Canton Rescue units returned from the hospital."

The fire fighters involved in the accident were transported to St. Joseph's Hospital by Canton Township rescue personnel. The 30-year-old driver, a seven-year veteran, sustained a closed-head injury while the passenger, 33, a two-year veteran, was treated for minor leg injuries and released that night. ## MURDER

Another element of the case is yet to be decided and that also has Jones greatly concerned.

"It is extremely important that the defendant be sentenced as an adult, or he could be back on the streets at the age of 21. That has me deeply concerned and I feel the state legislature needs to act so that killers cannot be tried as adults (as was Younce) and then sentenced as a juvenile," Jones emphasized.

"I don't think the judge ruled properly in this case, but it is of utmost importance that Younce be sentenced as an adult for two reasons. One that he spend the full amount of time behind bars and the other so that he will have a public police record for the rest of his natural life," Jones said.

"Juvenile crime records are secret. This murder record should not be kept from the public in the future," Jones concluded.

During the first day of the two-day bench trial Jones and his wife, held up large photos of their slain son in court. "We removed them at the request of the prosecutor," Jones said, "we were not trying to intimidate the judge, we were trying to display our family's loss."

After the Sept. 30 sentencing, Jones hopes to begin a campaign to have Michigan laws changed so that it is mandatory that juveniles found guilty of weapons-related deaths (guns, knives, etc.) be sentenced as adults.

ARREST

"We did not have any idea where he was until the Rosa Parks incident," Glaspie said.

According to Glaspie, Jefferson participated in the planned hold-up as the getaway driver. The bank employee of the National Bank of Detroit, located at 12 mile and Southfield roads in Southfield, "acted as the victim," the FBI agent said.

"He got away with a substantial amount of cash," Glaspie added.

The robbery and assault of Rosa Parks, an 82-year-old Detroit woman who resided on the 9300 block of Windermere Street, occurred at 8:15 p.m. Tuesday, according to Detroit Police Sgt. Christopher Buck.

The incident took place on the west side of Detroit when the perpetrator broke through the rear door of the home and demanded money.

"She gave him an undisclosed amount of cash and he assaulted her," Buck said. "She was taken to Detroit Receiving Hospital suffering from swelling to her face and bruises to her chest."

Reports that Jefferson tackled the suspected thief, 28-year-old Joseph Skipper of Detroit, could not be confirmed by Detroit Police. However, police did confirm that upon arrival at the Linwood Street location in Detroit, Skipper was being held down by a group of citizens.

During the last three day weekend of the summer season, numerous activities are available for family fun.

Greenfield Village

A day of recreation and an opportunity to re-visit the past is available during the Labor Day observance at Greenfield Village. On Sept. 5, hands-on activities and first-person presentations will illustrate the lives of working men and women at the turn of the century.

At the Armington & Sims machine shop, visitors can compare working conditions and lifestyles of a mechanic and a foundry worker. The changing of women's roles can be observed when visitors meet a teacher at the 19th-century Scotch Settlement School and watch a milliner at her task - two of the "respectable" jobs available for women of that era.

Visitors also can lend an ear to the music of iron worker Michael Deren who will present stories and songs about the history of his trade.

The Village and Henry Ford Museum are located in Dearborn, and hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily, except for Christmas and Thanksgiving.

Renaissance Festival

Peasant Olympics are featured on Labor Day weekend at the 15th annual Michigan Renaissance Festival in Holly. Contests include Press-a-Wench, Tote-a-Bloke, Sot Put and celebrity challenges at Upon Downs.

In addition to the "olympic games," there is continuous entertainment on eight stages, more than 160 artisans displaying their wares, equestrians and an array of festival foods.

The festival will continue on weekends through Sept. 24-25.

Midnight Cruiser's Show

More than 700 vehicles are expected at the 12th annual Midnight Cruiser's Rod & Custom Show which is slated on Sept. 4 and 5 at Van Buren Park.

The show opens on Sunday at 8 a.m., and a pancake breakfast is featured between 8:30 and 11:30 a.m. Activities will include a peddle car contest, horseshoes, model car contest, truck pullers and puppet shows. Various children's games will be playing during the day, and the event closes with trophy presentations at 4 p.m.

State Fair

If you want to test your skill at the egg and spoon race or the egg toss, go to the Michigan State Fair today.

If corn-eating is one of your favorite endeavors, plan a Labor Day visit to the fairgrounds to compete in a Corn Eating Contest.

This weekend closes the 12-day 1994 Michigan State Fair, but there is still time to see the Ogle Lumberjack Show, the crowd-pleasing racing pigs and numerous other fair events.

Jeffrey Osborn is the featured performer on Sept. 5 when he sings ballads and up-tempo hits for his audiences.

Hudson's restaurant pleases the palates of shoppers

By LAURIE HUMPHREY
ANP Staff Writer

They're tired, they're cranky and they're hungry...but when shoppers leave the restaurant at Hudson's in Westland Center, it's invariably with a smile.

Since 1965, the Westland Hudson's has continued the tradition of the Hudson's store, and offered good-quality food for a good price. "That's why people come in," noted manager Cathy Randazzo. "We have a great atmosphere and excellent service."

From salads to pasta to grilled items, customers can get it all Monday through Saturday from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. and from noon to 4 p.m. on Sunday.

"We also offer a full bar, desserts, cappuccino and espresso," she said.

Despite their varied menu, the most popular item continues to be the Maurice Salad, a combination of iceberg lettuce topped with ham, turkey, Swiss cheese, sweet pickles and secret-recipe dressing.

"We sell at least 300 of these salads a week," said Randazzo, "to shoppers, mall employees and community business people."

According to the manager, customer traffic depends largely on the retail business, but people looking for a quick bite to eat can satisfy their taste buds here for a reasonable price. "It costs between $4.95 and $7.95 for a meal," she said.

Recent additions to the menu include: an Italian submarine sandwich, country-fried steak, and a Cobb Salad sandwich served on sourdough flat bread.

The restaurant offers a special entree, soup and sandwich, drink and dessert every day, in addition to the Sanders hot fudge sundaes, cream puffs and pastries. A full bar is available and many area residents have found this a terrific place to have dinner, without shopping.

For a limited time, VIP card holders can receive a second entree for half price when an entree of equal or greater value is purchased.

The restaurant is located on the second level, above Hudson's retail store and can be entered up the stairway or directly off the elevator. For more information call 458-5560.

One of the new items available for take-out at Hudson's restaurant is Marco Polo salad.
